STATOTHR

1. [redacted] office talked to me about [redacted] who was interviewed by [redacted] and then sent up to Personnel. I understand [redacted] created an unfortunate impression and left without further interviews and tests and without filling out any forms. [redacted] main impression was that [redacted] seemed quite intelligent.

2. While I have no immediate interest in a law school graduate without experience, I may have such a requirement at any time and I will be very glad to interview [redacted] if he comes back. Since Mr. Dulles and [redacted] both have a personal interest in [redacted] I suggest we might write him that if he comes down, we would be glad to have him submit the regular forms and take the normal tests and that additional interviews would be arranged for him.
